

Meet Pawmail

Send vet reminders, adoption updates and treat coupons — wrapped in the softest, friendliest inbox your furry family has ever seen.

Say hello to Biscuit, your mail pup

Biscuit fetches every message, sniffs out spam, and drops only the good mail on your doormat — tail wagging the whole way.

WHY PET PARENTS LOVE IT

A little app with a big heart

Vet Reminders

Auto-nudges for shots, checkups and flea season — never miss a wiggly appointment.

Treat Coupons

Deals from local groomers and pet shops land in a dedicated, drool-worthy folder.

Paw-attachments

Share photos and records with sitters in one warm, tappable card.

Quiet Hours

Biscuit

naps when your pets do — no buzzing during cuddle time.

Helpful tips before you send 🐹

Tag the pet, not just the human. Add your pet's name to a thread so vet replies, sitter notes and grooming receipts all curl up in one cozy timeline.

Schedule with Quiet Hours on. Drafts you queue overnight wait politely and arrive at a friendly morning hour — gentle for you and the recipient.

Double-check the leash before a bulk send. A blast to your whole "Sitters" group can't be recalled once Biscuit runs off with it — preview the list first!

Send mail in three lines

Pawmail's REST API keeps the friendliness all the way down to the code. One POST and Biscuit is off:

```
curl -X POST https://api.pawmail.app/v1/send \
  -H "Authorization: Bearer $PAW_TOKEN" \
  -d '{"to":"sitter@home.pet","pet":"Mochi","subject":"Walk at 5?","body":"Bring treats 🍖"}'
```

A 201 Created means the letter is in Biscuit's satchel and on its way.

Should you switch to Pawmail?

Concept A warm, pet-first inbox that treats vet visits and sitter notes as first-class mail.

Appeal Quiet Hours, treat-coupon folders and a wagging mascot make routine admin genuinely cozy.

Reality Free for one pet; gentle pricing scales by paw. Migrates your old inbox in an afternoon.

Verdict: Switch and let Biscuit carry the load 🐾

Welcome to the cozy inbox

Pawmail — where every message comes home with a wag.

Built with love by Pangaea Digital Labs